THE SENIOR BLOTTER FOR 1943

NEW ALBANY HIGH SCHOOL
NEW ALBANY, INDIANA

JACK MEEKIN, EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
RICHARD STEIN, BUSINESS MANAGER

In recognition of our service in raising $300,000 in war bonds, a heavy bomber is to be named NEW ALBANY HIGH SCHOOL.

Facing the Seven Stars.
South Wing.
Something new has been added.
Our southern exposure.

. . . WHO SERVES HIS COUNTRY BEST

DEDICATION

SECOND LIEUTENANT WILLIAM I. SAGE
The first N. A. H. S. graduate to receive a citation for bravery.

A modern Launcelot, of all our men
(Who go forth, as the knights of times long past)
The first so cited that his fame will last
Within our hearts, always recalled again
With memories of the war that will have been
The greatest in our annals; to his vast
Resourcefulness and bravery, we cast
Our tribute. As we think of him again,
Come thoughts of all our friends who heard the call
Of freedom, and, like Arthur's knights, now bear
Hardships of war, and serve with loyalty.
We dedicate this yearbook to them all,
And, serving as we can, this is our prayer:
Theirs be the fame and ours—the victory.

SERVICE FOR DUTY, NOT FOR NEED

MR. SCOTT H. PICKENS, Treasurer

MR. OSCAR BADER, President

Mr. Pickens is a graduate of the New Albany High School, class of 1921. He attended Indiana University where he studied commerce and finance, both of which he uses now in his important jobs as president of the Peter-Klerner Furniture Corporation and as bank director of the Mutual Trust Company. During off hours, our treasurer indulges in farming and golf, hobbies which are fast becoming impossible since his recent appointment as Director of Civilian Defense for Floyd County. Mr. Pickens is sending his daughter to his Alma Mater. He is proud of our high school and serves efficiently to improve the educational advantages it offers.

MR. KENNETH F. HARDIN, President

Mr. Kenneth Hardin was one of New Albany's successful business men. He resigned March 4 to become general manager of the National Stores Corporation at Nashville, Tennessee. It was a fine tribute to the school to have a man of his experience serve on the City Schools' Board of Trustees.

Mr. Oscar Bader, an active auxiliary fireman, serves New Albany for the fourth term as an ourstanding member of the school board. Mr. Bader received his LL.B. and LL.M. degrees at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

He is one of the attorneys for the First National Bank and Kentucky Title and Trust Company of Louisville.

Mr. Bader also serves New Albany through such civic organizations as Kiwanis, Elks and many others.

THEY CHART OUR

Mr. Irvin F. Fleischer, Secretary, elected to succeed Mr. Hardin.

Mr. C. B. McLinn, Superintendent

Supt. McLinn chats with Chamber of Commerce President, Mr. Jouett Reisz.

New Albany High School's great service of today is planning for the tomorrows to come. With a world in confusion, both economically and militarily, the future calls for clear thinking.

Young America will be required to fight this globular war and yet come out of it with straight economic and political thinking. The traditional high school therefore must stream-line its courses of study to meet the challenge of immediate preparedness for war and clear thinking for a post-war world of a different type. The preparation for war is definitely in the making and needs only impetus in our high schools today, and time should not be lost.

The post-war world demands a clear understanding of the things to come, namely, the absorption back into normal economic life of the many war workers, the absorption back into normal life of many young men who have and will answer their country's patriotic call—and many will return mentally confused as well as physically handicapped.

MR. C. C. KATTERJOHN, Principal

Interviews student about course of study.

The post-war world will be a different world. Our economic life will be changed, as we have been in the process of change socially, politically and economically during the past fifteen years. The war will add its problems to these changes. Young America must become definitely internationally minded. Too much in the past we have dreamed of peace and basked in the ideals of the theory of peace, when we knew so little and cared less about the mental state and economic problems of our world neighbors who, like ourselves, were selfish and ambitious.

Yes, the American high school population has a great service to render, both in being patriotically prepared immediately and in being ready mentally for the post-war problems, that will be social, economic and international, in character.

Service now means unselfishness to a civilization in need.—C. C. Katterjohn.

Charge!

If, on the first day of school, you see a dazed student wandering through the halls in search of room 403, you may be reasonably sure he is a freshman. Later in the semester, the means of detection changes. Then he is recognized by his arm-load of books. Of course, he is a rarely seen creature, since he makes a bee-line home to study every day in his young life. His only purpose on earth is to make the seniors feel intelligent—by comparison.

Perhaps there isn't much to say about the sophs. They're the in-betweens. They know enough to complain about their difficult assignments, but not enough to work them.

But now for the juniors, a whole race in themselves! They have lived hundreds of years and yet lack the seniors' boredom. To them, school still holds a bit of mystery. But then, one must remember they do not own the school—yet. The vast expanse of a year separates them from the coveted knighthood of the seniors.

Strive on, underclassmen! And may you stumble into the paths of glory.

Junior Red Cross . . . a real aid to America's war program . . . with the leadership of Virginia Cahalan, our president, we conduct a campaign for 100 per cent membership in the school . . . practically succeeded, too . . . we collect magazines to brighten our soldiers' spare moments . . . useful articles that come in handy in military camps . . . under our persuasive influence the boys in shop make game boards for the men in service . . . we oil our sewing machines and strain our eyes over soldiers' aid kits to be sent overseas . . . Thanks to the Speech Class, who turned "American Passport" funds over to us . . . at Christmas time we remember that the festive season isn't always pleasant for soldiers in hospitals . . . we make tray covers to give their meals a cheerful touch . . . then the folding of hundreds of surgical dressings tries our patience . . . the theme of our organization is service . . . service for victory!

Athletics

We have learned to make our bodies serve us in our quest to serve

ROSELLEN HIMMELHEBER

TO THE JOUST!

Coach Alex Thom.
Line Coach Albert Gehlbach.
Mr. Albert Koehler, Treasurer of the N. A. H. S. Athletic Board.

Athletics at New Albany High School have a definite and clear purpose—to give students the opportunity to develop their bodies and gain a true sense of sportsmanship by participation in competitive sports. The matter of winning games is secondary. Our motto is "Fair play is the sure way." Our record of many victories bears this out.

We are proud of our "wins" but even more we are proud of the spirit which guides our athletic program.

LORD AND LADY OF THE GRIDIRON

The inaugural grid game with K. M. I. turned out sadly for the Bulldogs as the strong invaders fought to a 13-0 victory.

In the second encounter of the season New Albany capitalized on its scoring opportunities and upset Bosse, 13-6. The Evansville eleven had been ranked third in the State.

With more honest rivalry rampant than in perhaps any other game, the Bulldogs drubbed Jeffersonville 27-0 in the first clash with them for thirteen years.

In a fast and furious battle with Anchorage, the New Albany boys showed both power and determination and emerged victors by the score 13-7.

The Manual game proved to be saddest of all when the Bulldogs fell under a forceful scoring attack 47-7.

For their first game away from Buerk Field the Dogs went roaring to Vincennes and returned with a good deal of their roar left after defeating the Alices 19-6.

Journeying to Bloomington, the Bulldogs decided to make the trip worthwhile and so returned home with an 18-0 victory after a game in which they displayed brilliant teamwork.

New Albany's Bulldogs fought hard at Evansville against the powerful Reitz eleven, but our passing didn't quite match their unusual ground attack. Reitz—14, New Albany—7.

Before a wild and thrilled crowd, New Albany grabbed the Annual Thanksgiving Day classic from St. Xavier to the tune of 7-6. Thus under a bright November sun, the Thomboys ended a highly successful season with a blaze of glory.

MAKE GOOD

On the hardwood court as well as on the gridiron New Albany enjoyed a successful season. Out of the 22 games played, the Maemen turned in a record of fourteen victories and eight defeats. This is the best season for the hoopla boys in five years.

Especially noteworthy is the fact that Coach McConnell's Bulldogs scored wins over such top-notch teams as Jeff, Martinsville, South Side of Fort Wayne, Washington, and Richmond.

At the sectional New Albany breezed through to the finals but then lost to Jeff in a game believed to be the most heart-breaking in our annals.

IRLS' ATHLETIC

Halt! One! Two! . . . Every day we hear this command in our gym classes as we drill shoulder to shoulder in military fashion. We hang by our hands and knees; we swing from bar to bar on a horizontal ladder in the manner of our prehistoric ancestors. To prove that our nerves are steady, we walk backward on a narrow beam and do a deep knee bend in the middle of it (without falling off, we hope). Touching our toes and doing scissors jumps made us groan and gave us sore muscles at first, but calisthenics are fun now. We know they make us look like potential Powers models.

Just for fun, we go hiking and horseback riding through golden autumn hills or over green spring grass. Swimming also proves a delightful sport as well as good exercise. When cold weather curtails outdoor pleasure, we play ping pong and badminton during lunch hour. There's keen competition between teams in our after-school basketball games. This all adds up to the fact that we're healthy and ready for any job Uncle Sam wants us to do—as civilians or in uniform.

Juanita Akers, Helen Hittner.
Ruth Lukemeier.
Mildred Barr, Joyce Dean, Dorothy Mann.
Jane Ellenbrand.
Doris Goetsch, Juanita Bigler.

"I Pledge:
TO HELP WIN THE WAR
RIGHT IN MY KITCHEN"

I will waste nothing

Throw away nothing that is wholesome to eat. Learn good new ways to use leftovers. Save paper, metals and other defense salvage materials.

I will take care of things

It is important that you make things last as long as possible . . . your home appliances, clothing, furniture . . . everything that you have and use.

I will buy carefully

Avoiding wasteful buying for home needs. Plan food purchasing so as to buy in most economical quantities. Avoid hoarding and price hysteria.

I will cook properly

Can fruits and vegetables at home. Bake at low oven temperatures to prevent shrinkage. Cook vegetables the "waterless" way to save valuable vitamins.

SEPTEMBER

Sixteen scattered states send students to N.A.H.S. . . . Army and war industries snatch five teachers . . . to add to the confusion of the new school year, blond and brunette boys become redheads overnight . . . "Red" Bryant introduces and popularizes watchword of the year —"How many?" . . . Blotter show introduces Usti Getmore and family, who still get plenty of laughs . . . work on new addition causes super-air-conditioning and school is dismissed for one glorious day . . .

OCTOBER

Gala parade launches patriotic scrap drive and rain dampens students but not spirit . . . Blotterites trek to Franklin press convention with President Ehalt and Secretary Meekin . . . Bel Canto goes patriotic and takes school along in song assembly . . . George Warner coins new word "unch" in pep session . . .

NOVEMBER

The Bentley Trio hits the spot (light) with songs and dances . . . sophomores contribute assembly to start fast and furious war stamp drive . . . teachers officiate as gasoline is rationed and students revel in three afternoons off . . . Junior Board of Trade cooperates with Wranglers, Speakers, Boosters, and the band to bury "Poor Regit" on eve of Thanksgiving football tussle . . . everything's all right when Bulldogs emerge victorious over Tigers . . .

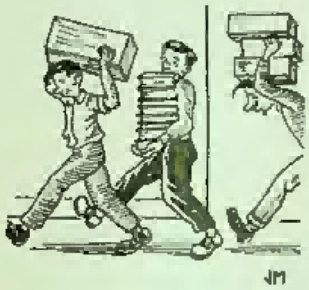
Editor's Note—

Inclusion of Graduates in Service on our Honor Roll and in pictures had to be limited to a certain date. However, we wish to pay tribute to the memory of Capt. Virgil Ingram, Jr., '36. He was leader of his bombing squadron in North Africa and was killed in action March 22. He had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Order of the Purple Heart.

DECEMBER

Sergeant Bill Sage, New Albany's first hero of World War II, comes to relate experiences—leaves medals at home . . . Stallings carries on family tradition by becoming senior president . . . speech class wows school with "American Passport," realistic comedy with patriotic moral . . . Jack Brown found to fit perfectly the office of spring class president in shortest and sweetest election session on record . . . Christmas spirit is personified by Bel Canto carolers . . . Speakers and Wranglers pool talents and "The Second Marriage of Santa Claus" results . . . merry Christmas vacation greeted by "broken-down and beat-up" students and teachers . . .



JANUARY

Everyone wanders back from bookless days with news of school shake-up in the air . . . midyear seniors bid farewell with devilish skit (Dimpy Owen sizzles in title role) . . . boys start military training under the State Guard . . . 550 juniors and seniors undergo extensive physical exams—say "ah" for the War Department . . . all true followers of the red and black begin to train voices for the Jeff-N.A. cage battle . . . efforts rewarded by victory and teachers cope with voiceless students next day . . .

FEBRUARY

As second semester dawns N.A.H.S. becomes a school of 1500 students and a real campus . . . Frances Reed stars (and sparkles) as Erminie in chorus-produced light opera of the same name . . . Rev. James Boren, missionary to Thailand, relates experiences in Jap concentration camp . . . students drop to the depths of despair when they learn they will not be allowed to attend school Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday on account of more rationing . . . sorrow knows no bounds with students who have to miss school Friday to attend sectional basketball tourney . . . Say, who are we kiddin'? . . .

MARCH

Blotter staff sweeps school with glamorized play rehearsal "George Washington Swept Here" . . . Mr. Stalker leaves to accept position with the United States Public Health Service . . . Dr. Charles Barker, brought to New Albany by the Rotary Club, tells students "How to Get the Most Out of Life" . . . there seems to be an epidemic of broken arms—no, it turns out to be merely uncomfortable results of mass shots and vaccinations . . . now spring is really in the air—and so is rain, off and on for nearly two weeks . . .

APRIL

Thirty-three boys struggle through two-hour mental test for government-sponsored college training . . . Blotter staff entertains all journalists with a joke-box party to celebrate the Blotter's thirty-seventh birthday . . . Commercial Department plays host to the southern division of the state commercial contest . . . Bel Canto, resplendent in formals, present program of songs from operettas in assembly—sophs launch drive to raise $75,000 in war bonds with a clever and inspiring assembly . . . speech class presents "Jane Eyre," a classic filled with romance, mystery, and top N.A.H.S. actors . . . Ruth Hedrick and Gene Heustis score a real hit with superb interpretations . . .

MAY

The lawn of our school becomes the beauty spot of New Albany as grass grows into a rich background for the many artistically arranged evergreens . . . seniors pass away time before graduation by producing "And Came the Spring" . . . Welch and McLin share leads in this hilarious caricature of modern youth . . . at last the seniors grow serious for a while to attend baccalaureate and commencement . . . school's out! . . . for some, the end of another year . . . for seniors, farewell to happy high school days . . .

As seniors, now we turn from high school years
To strive for happiness in our strange world
Where chivalry seems dead, and bombs are hurled
From skies that should be blue; and yet our fears
Are silenced, as someday all nations' tears
Shall vanish, at a starry flag unfurled
And flying high against the clouds. A world
Of peace unfolds before us; to our ears
Come echoes of the laughter yet to be.
With this hope we shall labor for a way
For all to have the gladness they deserve.
Our quest, the age-old fight for liberty;
Our coat of arms, red, white, and blue; today
In freedom's armor we ride forth to serve!
